Annual Summer Fair at Wildwood

Thirty-second annual summer fair by the Wildwood and District Agricultural Society was held at the Wildwood fairgrounds last Friday and was again very successful. Events of the day started with a big parade to the fairgrounds followed by judging and then the examination of exhibits by fair-goers, some of them shown above visiting the vegetable display. Entries ranged from livestock through home cooking, handicrafts and a school section. A midway, with rides and games, proved attractive to the youngsters and added to the carnival atmosphere.

COUNCIL APPROVES AMBULANCE SERVICE

At the regular meeting of Town Council last Thursday evening it was agreed to co-operate with the County of Parkland in the support of an ambulance service to serve the town and western portion of the county.

Ambulance service throughout the county has been under consideration for some time and the county council has indicated its support of one service in the west and another in the eastern area.

Town Council agreed to contribute up to $2,000 a year toward setting up an ambulance service with the vehicle to be sheltered, maintained and operated from a site within the Town of Drayton Valley.

As well as support by the County of Parkland, the County of Leduc has indicated financial support of the undertaking for the benefit of residents of the western area of the County.

Cadets to Resume Parades Sept. 10th

The 1970-71 Air Cadet Year commences Thursday evening, September 10th at 7:00 p.m. in the Frank Maddock High School. All youths from the age of thirteen (13) years to eighteen (18) years and who can pass the required medical are eligible.

This past summer seventeen (17) cadets were the recipients of various awards. These included: Flying Scholarship which provide a worthy cadet with private pilot's license; Exchange visit to Los Angeles for an exciting week; Summer camp exchanges to Bagotville, Quebec; and Summer Camp at Penhold.

These activities are open for all cadets and with reasonable attention to attendance, drill, discipline and other areas of cadetship may result in an award.

This year the corps is hopeful of enrolling a strength of approximately seventy cadets early to enable a full and complete year.

Each month besides regular parades, at least one other function is programmed which could be any of the following: Open air wiener roast; Hallowe'en party; Inter-squadron visits with Jasper, Winterburn or Jasper Place Squadrons; Parent and Son Night; Christmas Party; Tour of an Airport; Familiarization flights in aircraft; and many other functions.

The Air Cadet League of Canada wants to serve every young Canadian and help to ensure he becomes a good citizen. You are invited to come out on September 10th at 7:00 p.m. and see the program for yourself and bring your parents.

Town Fails to Qualify for Public Housing

Following an investigation by the Alberta Housing Corporation, Drayton Valley Town Council has been informed that public housing is not justified in the community at the present time.

Town Council passed a resolution in April requesting an investigation and a survey was subsequently carried out. Less than five percent of families in the town completed the survey forms and the corporation noted it was a low return for an accurate assessment of needs.

The survey indicated nine renters and two home owners were interested in public housing but when the survey forms were broken down the corporation found only three families to be eligible and on this basis, a housing project could not be justified.

Lodgepole Bus Service to be Discontinued

No change in Drayton Valley-Edmonton service is indicated. At present the bus travels to Lodgepole from Drayton Valley, returning the following morning for the trip to Edmonton.

Objections to the proposed discontinuation of service will be accepted by the Secretary of the Highway Traffic Board, Edmonton, up to September 15th.

Some members of Council voiced concern about a Parkland School Committee report in The Western Review to the effect that the County would be putting up $23,000 compared to $50,000 by the town toward the construction of a new high school here. The secretary was instructed to write the School Committee regarding the amount it would be putting up, over and above the land costs for the school.

Considerable discussion took place regarding a claim by Mr. Oscar Johnson that lagoon seepage and storm sewer run-off had damaged his farm land adjoining the lagoon.

In his letter Mr. Johnson sought $100 for damages to two acres of crop last year and $200 for seven acres of land which he said could not be worked this spring due to seepage from the north lagoon.

Town Engineer W. Tuttle outlined work undertaken to drain storm sewer water and provide a crossing for Mr. Johnson's implements. Mr. Tuttle noted that test holes were drilled and no moisture encountered, indicating the lagoon is not seeping.

Council authorized the payment of $100 to Mr. Johnson for 1969 crop damage on provision that he gives a release for any further responsibility. Town Council also repudiated any possibility of there being seepage from the lagoon.

• • •

Council instructed the secretary to bring to the attention of the County of Parkland that foam equipment has not been provided for the County fire truck. # Evansburg Applies for Entry In Regional Rec. Council

At a meeting in Evansburg, August 13th the application of Evansburg to enter the Parkland Regional Recreation area was discussed by village representatives and members of the Regional Recreation Board.

Present from the Evansburg Village Council were: G. Dompnier (Mayor), J. Lauer, C. Bjornstead, G. Lorenz, and Mrs. Cumming.

The Evansburg Recreation Board was represented by F. Fausak (Chairman), A. Udchitz, and Mrs. A. Tucker.

Parkland Regional Recreation Council was represented by C. Armstrong (Assistant Superintendent), R. Lent, D Gylander, and Mrs. Pack.

Mayor Dompnier explained that the reason for this meeting came about when the Evansburg Recreation Board asked the Evansburg Village Council to request that Evansburg be included in the Recreation Agreement with the County of Parkland, as they felt that it would be advantageous to Evansburg. He asked Mr. Armstrong to give them a few ideas of what their position is and what is expected of them.

Mr. Armstrong handed out a questionaire and outline of what Evansburg and yicinity could expect from entering into the Recreation Agreement and pointed out that since Evansburg is so close to Entwistle, it would be advantageous to both Villages to share their facilities and not have to duplicate them. He stated that he personally would like to have Evansburg join in the Agreement as Parkland Regional Recreation had something to offer them and they also had something to offer the Parkland Regional Recreation.

OUTLINE BENEFITS TO EVANSBURG

Mr. Armstrong said that the Village of Evansburg may not be in a financial position to pay for their own recreation director. By getting into the Agreement they would have a recreation director and people they could call on at any time to attend meetings and help to expand the programs they already have and help the Council to develop facilities.

The Regional Recreation Board can develop the people in the Evansburg community with leadership courses so they could have their own leaders to put on programs . The whole concept is Centralization of administration and de-centralization of facilities. They expand the existing programs, but do not take them over. For example, they can provide a hockey clinic for coaches and referees.

The key to the whole program is for the Parkland Regional Recreation Board to work through and with the individual 30-40 recreation boards in the county and let them know what is available, and in turn, the individual boards can let the Regional board know what programs they want.

Mr. Lent explained that when there are more people participating in a program in which the people pay for their lessons or courses, there is a little less of the total cost going to administration and a little more going to actual program, because the Regional Board wouldn't have to subsidize as much for the instruction.

EVANSBURG CONTRIBUTION TO AGREEMENT

Evansburg's contribution to the Parkland Regional Recreation Agreement would be 1½ mils on the equalized assessment. However, if Evansburg were to enter into the Regional Agreement now, they would be able to get in on the winter program but there would be no cost until the following year.

If desired, the Agreement could be terminated in two years after the date of signing, but there must be a 6 month notice given by any one of the co-operating authorities. Evansburg would have a member from the Village Council or someone from the Village of Evansburg to represent them on the Parkland Regional Recreation Board, which meets once a month on a Monday.

The Agreement would include not only the Village of Evansburg but an area around Evansburg approximately 4 miles west, 15 miles north and 15 miles south. All the communities in this vicinity would immediately be on the Regional Board's mailing list.

Mr. Armstrong stated that the recreation program is geared for all age levels and that this is the 3rd program season coming up. He pointed out that the Council does not provide facilities, but does provide programming to utilize existing facilities.

The Parkland Regional Recreation Board held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, August 17th, and at that time, the Committee that attended the meeting in Evansburg on August 13th, recommended that Council go ahead with the preliminary steps to have Evansburg join in the Agreement. It was moved that the recommendation of the Committee be sent to the four governing authorities in the Agreement for their comments, and final decision to be made at the September meeting.

Enjoy Visit To England

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burrows and son Bob returned August 21st from a month's vacation in England. They flew over and landed at Gatwick where Mr. Burrows rented a car and drove to Cornwall where they visited relatives and friends.

England had enjoyed beautiful weather during the early summer, but unfortunately, the Burrows arrived during a period of dull, rainy weather.

Roy and Bob enjoyed deep-sea fishing off the Cornish coast where they caught mackerel, cod, place and bass in large numbers. Their prize catch was a four foot Conger eel that weighed 20 pounds.

MID-YEAR OUTLOOK

For the first time the Economics Branch of the Canada Department of Agriculture has issued a mid-year outlook in addition to its annual outlook presented in November.

The mid-year outlook provides a brief up-to-date analysis of the situation and outlook for major Canadian farm commodities at at May. (For grains the figures reflect the position at mid-June.)

To keep farmers abreast of the latest economic projections, the situation and outlook for major commodities is summarized in this issue of the Farm Letter.

WHEAT

The outlook for wheat sales is much brighter than last November. Export sales are up by 50 million bushels from the earlier predictions and will probably reach 350 million. Total sales are nearly 75 million bushels higher than the November predictions at 525 million bushels for the 1969-70 crop year.

That will still leave a very high carry-over of 950 to 975 million bushels; sales during the next crop year (1970-71) will likely total about the same as this year or a little higher at 525 to 575 million bushels.

The outlook is for world stocks to be somewhat higher to start this coming crop year, but to fall during 1970-71. With some slowing in production, world prices for the rest of this year could remain at about current levels; improved prices seem likely in 1970-71.

Durum prices will probably fall because there is a much heavier carry-over.

Domestic prices to millers for Ontario winter wheat will remain firm.

FEED GRAINS

Oats and barley production will be up this year, unless yields are sharply lower from last year.

There have been big forward sales of barley, extending into the 1970-71 crop year, and another year of export sales of at least 75 million bushels is in prospect.

Barley supplies for 1969-70 were at an all-time Canadian record of 576 million bushels. The carry-over at the end of this crop year will likely be little changed at 200 million bushels.

Prices might be a little higher than last year. Long-range prospects call for more barley consumption and acreage could increase in 1971 and beyond.

For oats, the picture is not so bright. Our carry-over at the end of the 1970-71 crop year could be 220 million bushels. At the end of this crop year, it will likely be 180 million bushels, the highest since 1957-58. Long-range prospects call for oats use to remain at the same level or drop.

Corn acreage will be up by about seven per cent and prices may be slightly lower; more corn will be fed in Ontario and Quebec.

HOGS

We have moved to a net export position with the United States, so watch their prices. Production continues up, particularly in the west. Canadian marketings will be up by about 13 per cent during the third quarter and by 17 per cent between October and March. In the United States, fall marketings will be up by six to nine per cent.

If the eight U.S. markets drop to the expected $21 to $22 level, Toronto prices could average $28 to $30 this fall. In 1971, more pigs will mean lower prices in Canada and the U.S.

BEEF

Canadian cattle numbers on farms were up (by three per cent) for the first time since 1964, according to the D.B.S. survey. The U.S. had its largest increase (2.2 per cent) since 1964 and now has a record 112.3 million head.

Canadian cattlemen are keeping more cows and heifers, particularly in the west, to build up herds.

U.S. (Omaha) prices are expected to improve into the summer and by mid-summer receipts should taper off to a more moderate increase over a year ago; higher prices should follow.

By mid-summer, gradings of choice and good cattle in Canada should show a sizeable increase over last year, particularly in western Canada where feed grains are abundant.

That would theoretically mean that Toronto prices for choice steers would not stay significantly above the export equivalent. But, in the fourth quarter of last year we had an amazing, all-time record averaging 33,911 head weekly and prices were about $1.20 over Omaha. That leaves grounds for optimism in fed cattle prices during the latter half of this year.

POULTRY

Broiler chicken prices will be under strong pressure this summer. The reason: chick placements are up across Canada, Ontario will likely increase production significantly with the increase in quota allocations and marketings for May, June and July are forecast to increase by 18 per cent. Birds likely will go to market at lighter weights.

Poult placements for broiler turkeys were up by 25 per cent in the first four months (by a whopping 58 per cent in Quebec), indicating that record marketings are in the offing this summer — a record-breaking million head or more will be slaughtered in Canada this July, unless we export live birds to the United States. Prices will be under strong pressure. Heavy tom prices should be firm this summer; turkey hen prices may ease slightly.

Custom Machinery Rates Studied

Following are custom rates for farm machinery that is in demand in the late summer and fall. The rates quoted are based upon a province-wide survey of farmers doing this type of work. It was carried out by the engineering branch of the Alberta department of agriculture last year.

The table shows the low, average and high custom rates charged for the machinery. Charges include tractor power and an operator.

| MACHINE | LOW | AVERAGE | HIGH |
|---|---|---|---|
| Baler - charge per bale. (The charge for a baler with stooker attachment is usually 3¢ to 5¢ a bale extra). | $.05 | $.10 | $.12 |
| Pull-type swather - per acre) Self-propelled swather - per acre) (Charges for swathing hay are generally 25¢ to 50¢ higher than for swathing grain). | 1.00 | 1.35 | 2.50 |
| Self-propelled combine with straw cutter - per acre) Pull-type combine with straw cutter - per acre) (Some farmers charge $3.50 to $4.00 an acre and add 25¢ to 50¢ per acre for the straw chopper). | 3.00 | 4.55 | 6.50 |
| Heavy Duty Cultivator - per acre (The average charge for the implement alone was 40¢ to 85¢ an acre). | 1.00 | 1.70 | 4.00 |
| Bin-type grain dryer - per bushel | .05 | .07 | .10 |
| Batch or continuous flow-type grain-dryer - per bushel | .10 | .15 | .20 |

The survey showed that the custom rates per hours for 60 to 80 horse power tractors, plus operator, varied from $3.50 to $7.00, with the average being $5.50.

Human Survival

It is difficult for Canadians to bring home to themselves the menace to human survival caused by over-population. They have never been desperately hungry, they have adequate shelter, they are free from the epidemics brought on or made worse by privation, and they have abundant living space.

There are, however, many millions of people on earth who have not the accepted necessities of life, and Canadians are affected by their suffering. The interdependence of human beings is such that educated people, wherever they live, cannot morally evade or safely escape concern.

Black pessimism is an unconstructive mood. Upon learning about the state of affairs, men and women everywhere need to study what they can do to relieve hunger and distress, and do it relatively quickly.

After viewing with some apprehension the pollution problem, which is being given increasing attention in Canada, a recent Manchester Guardian went on to warn: "The future is doom-laden, though, so long as we shrink from tackling the true runaway element in the world scene: the population explosion. Within the next generation or two the world population will have to be stabilized if there is not to be a global catastrophe."

N.J. Berill, who was Strathcona Professor Zoology at McGill University, wrote in Let Us Live, published by the CIBA Chemical Group: "The pessimistic possibility is that human beings are not intelligent enough as a whole to control their own fertility and will always press hard against the ragged fringe of subsistence. If such is to be our fate it means we are already approaching the end of our tether, for never in the past has a race survived which failed to make necessary adjustments to changing circumstances."

The past few years have seen the growth of increased awareness of the population peril. In the international organizations, in the Vatican Council, and in internal debates in all countries, the question of population regulation has received unprecedented attention.

Perhaps young people are more alive to the danger than are older people upon whom the problem has crept up unawares. The unrest among young people may be due to their uncertainty that they will have a tomorrow. That is the challenge to adult people who are in a position to act effectively. Unless they move to make surer than they are now that this young generation has a future, nothing else matters. It is not enough to give tender, loving care to youth and to buy it an expensive education: these things to not mean anything unless we take steps to see that there will be a living world for young people to step into.

Population growth is a world problem which no country can ignore, whether it is moved by the narrowest perception of self-interest or the widest vision of common humanity.

To avert what is written in the book of nature as the outcome of present negligent drift more is needed than good intentions. There is an obligation upon educated people everywhere to spill over some of their knowledge and their resources and their enterprise into backward areas of the world.

Hollywood secretary to angry writer: "He's busy at the moment, Would you care to sit and fume?"

Due to four multiple death fires in which 16 persons died, Alberta fire deaths to date have already exceeded the total number to the full year in 1969 . This is alarming enough; but more tragic still is the fact that 14 of the 27 fire deaths have been children.

As Fire Commissioner I wish to sound a warning as to the following conditions and fire causes which have contributed to the fire deaths: 1. Unsafe heating equipment; 2. Children left unattended; 3. Smoking in bed; 4. Careless smoking and intoxication; 5. Clothing ignited by cook stove; 6. Gasoline misused in the home.

At a time when communication is rapid and comprehensive, it is hard to believe that people are not informed on the dangers of fire. The problem seems to be the lack of desire and the effort it takes to think and act in a reasonable way so as to avoid the common fire dangers. Our fire departments keep calling our attention to the most frequent causes of fire losses which are; careless smoking and children with matches.

As we prepare for our yearly fire prevention campaign, we have every reason to speak out loud and clear with an effort to stimulate greater alertness against death and destruction by fire.

Change Habits And Change Luck

Fish are like people. They get set in their ways and don't like to make changes. Patterns of life are rigorously followed until something forces a change in habits.

This human-like trait leads to some drastic differences in fish behavior during the hot weeks of summer.

Red Fisher

The normal ways of fishing usually don't produce during summer doldrums, yet many anglers stick to their set habits and give up fishing until the weather and the water cool.

By calling it quits they're probably missing some good fishing, says Red Fisher, the angling authority at Mercury outboards. What they should do is change their habits along with the fish.

To begin, start getting out on the lake before the sun comes up, be there again when it goes down. Skip the hot hours in between.

Fish will change what they eat, too. Summer is the time of insects — grasshoppers, crickets, ants and a multitude of other delectible (to fish, of course) foods. Artificial lures will be passed up in favor of these natural foods.

A third consideration is where to fish. Since the supply of natural food is most abundant in shallow water, that is where the action will be.

Live baits and shallow water dictate a change in fishing methods. No heavy trolling or plug casting rods now. The situation calls for light-weight fly or spin casting tackle, with light lines and fine wire hooks.

Social, economic and political issues facing Western Canada will be examined and discussed by 55 teenage delegates from the four Western provinces at the second annual Western Canada 4-H seminar at Goldeye Lake Camp, from August 23rd to 29th.

Thistle Infestations On the Increase

Alberta Department of Agriculture is urging farmers and anyone else who owns or rents land infested with Canada or perennial sow thistles to live up to their responsibility by preventing these weeds from going to seed.

W. Lobay, head of the weed control branch, reports that both Canada and sow thistle infestations on cultivated and other land have increased considerably throughout the province. Poor spraying weather for two consecutive summers, he says, is mainly responsible for this situation. He also points out that more attention should be paid to thistles on uncultivated areas because these provide a significant proportion of the seed that starts thistle infestations in crops.

The key to controlling thistles on summerfallow, whether by cultural or chemical methods, is never to allow regrowth to remain for longer than a week during the growing season. By keeping it down you prevent the plant from storing up food reserves for the winter. Thistles deplete their food reserves up to the time they start producing seed. Then, about the end of July they begin to rapidly build them up again until freeze-up. These food reserves establish strong, health plants and carry them through the winter. The more frequently you interrupt growth, the greater are the changes of depleting food reserves and of killing the thistles.

Mr. Lobay recommends 2,4-D or MCPA at the rate of 1 pound of active ingredient per acre, or a mixture of dicamba and 2,4-D (Banvel 3) at the rate of 12 ounces of active ingredient per acre for controlling thistles on summerfallow land. The chemical application should be followed three to four weeks later by intensive and repeated tillage operations. Where the soil is subject to erosion, a second chemical application can be used to reduce the number of cultivations. However, regardless of the method used, it is extremely important, says Mr. Lobay, to cultivate the field just before freeze-up. This last cultural operation weakens the plants and reduces their chances of surviving the winter.

Amitrole at a rate of 6 to 8 pounds of active ingredient per acre is suggested for thistles that are in full bloom. Cultivations should be resumed when the pl plants are well bleached and continued until freeze-up.

Mr. Lobay recommends Picloram (Tordon) to control thistles at this time of year along railways, highways, roadsides and fencelines as well as on industrial sites. Heavy rates of 2,4-D or MCPA can also be used. However, in cases where the thistles have already gone to seed, picloram will do a more effective job of control. In many cases it will actually kill the thistles.

NEW RESEARCH AIM TO MAKE OIL FROM GARBAGE

Scientists at a U.S. energy research centre are on the track of a commercial process to make oil from garbage, according to Oilweek magazine. The process has reached a point where oil has been produced from wood industry waste and sewage sludge. The refuse is converted to a heavy oil by heating it in the presence of carbon monoxide and steam under pressure.

The yield of oil is about two barrels per ton of dry waste material, says the researchers. The oil from urban refuse and cellulose wastes has a sulpher content of 0.1 per cent, making the extract suitable as a source of fuel oil.

New Regulations May Cut Construction Costs

Changes in School Building Regulations, which are expected to result in substantial savings in Alberta school construction costs, have been announced by the Department of Education.

Under the new regulations, the basic support grant of $16 per square foot for elementary schools has been reduced to $15.50 and the $17 per square foot grant for junior and senior high schools has been changed to $16.25.

The changes result in part from a study by an Edmonton consulting firm of 42 schools build during the period 1966 to 1968. The study, commissioned by the Department, found that schools were being adequately built in the province at costs below $16 per square foot. In considering the report, Department officials recommended, on the basis of experience in approving school projects, that support grants be set slightly higher than those recommended in the study report.

The new support grants incorporate provisions for equipment, site development and furniture costs. In the past, if a project came in below the maximums, an extra $1 per square foot was set aside for equipment needs.

There were also additional equipment allowances for high schools. The $1 provision is retained, but now, along with any unused portion of the basic building grant, can be applied to site development and furniture, as well as equipment.

In another significant change, the recognized basic classroom size is now 750 square feet. Previously 850 square feet was accepted as the norm where average classroom enrolments exceeded 30 students. The norm was lowered because of lower classroom enrolments in recent years and the current trend toward organizing school space into flexible or varying room sizes.

Sizes of industrial arts shops have been reduced slightly and provision has been made for science and guidance space in elementary schools. A small increase has been made in junior high science space.

MARITIMES BRUCELLOSIS FREE

Canada's four Atlantic provinces are brucellosis free, reports the federal Department of Agriculture's Health of Animals Branch. The four provinces are the first to gain brucellosis free status, although several other areas are fast approaching the goal.

To quality as a brucellosis free area, no more than one per cent of the cattle herds and no more than a fifth of one per cent of the total cattle population can be found infected during an 18-month period. As well, the infection must have been eradicated from herds in which it was found to exist.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Routhier and family of Fort McMurry were visitors at the home of Mrs. Routhier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boulanger. Also visiting at the Boulanger home was Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Campbell of Atmore, Alberta. Mrs. Campbell is the Boulanger's granddaughter.

Mrs. N. Kohnen and girls of Sherwood Park were recent visitors at the Pares and other friends in Drayton Valley.

Hail Studies Nearing End

Hail activity has dropped off sharply during August with storms reported in the Alberta Hail Studies Project area on only five days so far this month. Nearly all the hail has been small; and as a result damage has been slight and spotty compared to the widespread severe damage in July.

Hail has only fallen on one day this month south of Calgary, but some severe storms have been reported outside the study area to the north of Edmonton.

The hail season is nearly over, and past records indicate an average of one severe storm likely during the last ten days of August. The Alberta Hail Studies weather radar will therefore be kept running until the end of the month, and farmers are requested to report any hail occurring up until the end of September. Other operations are now being gradually phased out since several project personnel are attending an International Cloud Physics Conference sponsored by the American Meteorological Society in Fort Collins, Colorado, from August 24th to 27th.

A man must make his opportunity, as oft as find it.

Forest Fire Curtails Travel

Effective immediately, the Bow River and Crowsnest Forests in southwest Alberta are closed to all public travel, Hon. J. Donovan Ross, Alberta Lands and Forests Minister announced this week.

Elsewhere in the province, campfire restrictions are now in effect, allowing open fires only in established campgrounds in the Rocky-Clearwater, Edson and Grande Prairie Forests, and the section of the Whitecourt Forest south and west of Highway 43.

Sixteen forest fires are burning in Alberta at the present time, the worst being about 30 miles north-east of the town of Banff, where 222 men with equipment that includes eight water bombers are fighting an out-of-control blaze. At noon Monday, 3,000 acres of timber have been consumed by that fire.

Forestry officials are very concerned about the potentially disastrous dry conditions in the south and central mountains and foothills. To add to their worries the Alberta Forest Service weather office predicts the high possibility of dry lightning strikes in some of the driest areas.

"I think hiring lady mail carriers was a mistake. They seem to be aching to open every letter."
